Columbia Pacific Heritage Museum's annual Benefit Art Auction returns with beautiful new works by local artists. This year's theme is "Hidden Worlds of PNW Forests and Gardens" and there are so many treasures to discover at this year's auction.

The auction will kick off with a reception to celebrate the artists on Friday, October 21st from 4-7pm at the museum. Enjoy some refreshments and be the first to bid on your favorite pieces. Over 60 art works will be on display in the museum's special exhibit gallery for three weeks, until November 12th. During that time, bids can be placed in-person at the museum, or online by going to fundraiser.bid/cphm. A link to the auction website can also be found on the museum's website at www.columbiapacificheritagemuseum.org. The museum is open Wednesdays-Saturdays from 10am-4pm.

Do you want the first pick of any artwork in the auction? Be sure to buy a raffle ticket BEFORE 4pm on October 21st. If you win the raffle you can choose any artwork before the auction starts. Only 50 tickets are sold. Raffle tickets are available for purchase at the museum for $20/ticket.

The auction will end on November 12th at 8pm. Stop in or sign on and get bidding!
